
Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	ix
Daniel Moran and James A. Russell
PART I: LONG WAR—LONG PEACE
1. The Pax Britannica and the Advent of Globalization	3
Andrew Lambert
2. The Great Disorder: Maritime Strategy in the World Wars, 1914–1945	32
Daniel Moran
3. The Cold War at Sea	62
Geoffrey Till
PART II: REGIONAL SECURITY
4. Middle Sea: The Mediterranean	91
Giuseppe Schivardi
5. Maritime Strategy in the South China Sea	120
Alessio Patalano
6. The Arctic: From Frozen Desert to Open Polar Sea?	149
Klaus Dodds

7. The Indian Ocean James A. Russell	181
PART III: ARCHITECTURE
8. The Warship since the End of the Cold War Larrie D. Ferreiro	209
9. The Influence of Law on Maritime Strategy Steven Haines	239
10. Mahan Revisited: Globalization, Resource Dependency, and Maritime Security in the Twenty-First Century Michael T. Klare	261
11. Intelligence, Information, and the Leverage of Sea Power John Ferris	282
Conclusion: Maritime Strategy and the Next World Order Daniel Moran	307
List of Contributors	313
Index	315