

Contents

List of figures	x
List of tables	xii
Acknowledgements	xiv
Abbreviations	xvii
1 Introduction	1
2 Theories of welfare state and work-family policy reform	22
3 Design and evolution of work-family policies: a European comparative overview	46
4 Policy developments in Germany and Italy: from a shared focus on the male-breadwinner model to diverging paths after the 1990s	81
5 How normative beliefs and voting behavior shape party competition on work-family policies	114
6 Women's descriptive representation: the more, the better?	142
7 Work-family policy reform processes in Germany: continuous change towards dual-earner model support	149
8 Italy: no consensus for change	178
9 Conclusion	200
Appendices	219
Index	245