

Contents

---

Foreword	vii
Preface	ix

Chapter One

"An Apollo in Form": Coming of Age in the Nation's Capital, 1835-1861	I
---	---

Chapter Two

"The Great Work of Improving and Beautifying Our Beloved City": First Steps in Business and Political Leadership, 1862-1865	26
---	----

Chapter Three

"We Want an Honest Board of Commissioners and No Broken-down Political Demagogues": Building His Business and Political Base for Civic Reform, 1865-1868	43
--	----

Chapter Four

"The Necessity for a Change in the Form of Government for This District": Promoting Territorial Government, 1869-1870	63
---	----

Chapter Five

"A Practical Experiment": Achieving Territorial Government, 1870-1871	77
---	----

Chapter Six

"Improvements Must Go On": The Board of Public Works, 1871	96
--	----

Chapter Seven

- "More Work of Improvement Was Undertaken at Once
Than Was Wise": Meeting Opposition to the Board of Public Works, 1872 116

Chapter Eight

- "They Must Have a Republican Boss Tweed for Campaign Purposes": A Troubled Territorial Governor, 1873-1874 135

Chapter Nine

- "A Free Man Once More": Bankruptcy and Preparations to Move to Mexico, 1874-1880 157

Chapter Ten

- "A Life of Labor and Extreme Simplicity": Seeking El Dorado
in Batopilas, 1880-1882 179

Chapter Eleven

- "Anxieties, Expenses, Delays, and Losses": Journey's End, 1882-1902 202

Chapter Twelve

- "The Law of Necessity": Denouement and Final Assessments 224

- Acknowledgments 235

- Note on Primary Sources 239

- Index 243